"COME YE WHOM MY FATHER HAS BLESSED"

GOD'S LENT CHILD

*I'll Lend you for a little while a child of mine, God said
For you to love while he lives
And cherish, even dead
It may be a day, a year, nineteen, or three.
But will you, till I call him back,
Take care of him for me.*

*He'll bring his charms to gladden you and — should his stay be brief
You'll have lovely memories as solace for your grief
I cannot promise he will stay,
Since all from earth return
But there are lessons taught below I want this child to learn.*

I've looked the whole world over in my search for teachers true;

*And from those that crowd life's lane
I have chosen you.*

*Now will you give him all your love
Nor think the labor vain,
Nor grieve too much when I come back
For this lent child again?*

*Now God's come back and we must say, 'Dear Lord,
Thy will be done.*

*For all the joy Thy child did bring
The risk of grief we've run
We sheltered him with tenderness
We loved him while we may
And for the happiness that we've known
Forever grateful stay.*

*And now, your angels have called him
Sooner than we'd planned.
We'll brave the bitter grief that come
An try to understand.*

PRESIDENT'S LETTER FOR THE 1994 MORRIS COLLEGE YEARBOOK

To the Graduating Class of 1994

Many graduating seniors tell me that they hope that their degree from Morris College will help them to get a job, and I usually have to remind them that their degree from Morris College is not designed merely to help them get a job, but to help them throughout life to get the job done. Our lives require us to confront many jobs of which the one that helps us to earn enough money in order to live is surely important. However, the average person will have pursued some seven different jobs and careers at some time in their life, and the purpose of your degree is to equip you with the communication skills, the computational skills, and organizational skills, and analytical skills and the social skills that will allow you successfully to get the job done regardless of which one of the several careers you happen to be pursuing at the moment.

Of course, you will be confronted throughout your life with other kinds of jobs that will also challenge your skills and abilities. There is the job of being a spouse, the job of being a parent, the job of being a church member, the job of being a citizen, the job of being a club member, and many other kinds of jobs that you may not yet have imagined. Each job will present its own special kind of challenge, but they will all require you to use the skills of communication, computation, organization, analysis, and social interaction that are the keys to getting the job done.

Accumulating a lot of knowledge and skills but failing to put them to work on behalf of a better business, a better school, a better family, a better church, a better club, a better country or a better anything represents a terrible waste of human resources and a terrible waste of the educational resources that the college has expended to make you a more productive and capable person. Our college motto reminds us that we "Enter to Learn" and that we "Depart to Serve." Although your Morris College degree should help you to get a job, I believe that it is more important that it help you to get the job done.

Sincerely,

*Luns C. Richardson
President*

*Dr. A. R. Blake
Chairman, Board of Trustees*

STUDENT LIFE

More than 900 students entered Morris this fall, representing the largest enrollment in the 85-year history of the institution.

Classes began August 26 with 933 students. This is an 18 percent increase over the 792 who attended last fall.

This year's increased enrollment includes 325 freshmen and 56 transfer students. Morris students represent 43 South Carolina counties and 19 states. Some hail from as far away as California.

Not only are classes full this semester, residence halls are also full. According to Jerome Smith, Morris' director of residential life, 698 students are residing on campus.

Although enrollment at the college has more than doubled during Dr. Richardson's presidency, he says Morris is still "a developing institution."

Please, open the door. We are tired waiting.

Mr. Rose observes the new freshmen in the auditorium during orientation.

Monique, Miss Morris College, greets parents and new students at the security gate.

What are you planning to enroll in this fall?

What is going on here?

New students and parents listen to the presentations during orientation.

Mr. Rainey being helpful as usual.

I wish he would hurry up.

Mr. Rose continues with orientation.

THE CORONATION OF

THEME: "The Essence of True Nubian Splendor"
MISS MORRIS COLLEGE

Donna Monique Warney
Miss Morris College, 1993-94

Monique's Acceptance . . .

From dust we were created, through faith we have breath, and through design we are all exceptional individuals destined for great things. Wisdom and endurance should walk hand in hand, and being the very special individuals that you are, you should always strive for the best. First giving honor to God for his many blessings, to our esteemed president, Dr. Luns C. Richardson, our academic dean, Dr. Mary Vereen-Gordon, the dean of student affairs, Mrs. Eliza E. Black, the administration of Morris College, The Student Government Association, faculty, staff, the student body, visiting queens, family and friends . . . Greetings!

It is with great pleasure and anticipation that I graciously stand before you this evening to accept the position of Miss Morris College 1993-94. As the reigning queen, I firmly believe it is my royal duty to exemplify the essential values of leadership, scholarship, and service, but most importantly exercise the ideals of the College motto: "Enter to Learn, Depart to Serve." As strong leaders must have the knowledge and determination to succeed in our elaborate society. They must strive, achieve, and excel, because faith without work is dead." Yet through Christ, all things are possible. To bear the title of Miss Morris College is truly a blessing.

The theme: "The Essence of True Nubian Splendor" is both fitting and appropriate to express the concept that black is indeed beautiful. To define essence is the true substance of anything, and the true substance of our identity lies in our rich nubian heritage. I believe that we as African-Americans often only remember our forefathers' oppression as slaves, indentured servants, and second class citizens, but we forget that we come from the like of kings and queens, who built cities, and led nations. Their pride and accomplishments that built our rich heritage, should strengthen the fate of our futures. Openly, I would like to thank my family for their unconditional love and support, the administration of Morris College, the Student Government Association for hosting such a grand event, the Coronation Committee for their diligent work and committed service, everyone who participated in Coronation 93, special thanks to Ms. Jacqueline Staggers, Student Government Association President 1992-93 for she believed in me when I did not believe in myself, and most importantly; I would like to thank the student body of Morris College for giving me the regal opportunity to represent our illustrious alma mater. In closing, I would like to challenge every individual here tonight to accept that you are beautiful; you are intelligent; you can rise above the circumstances that come about to hinder you from succeeding, but most importantly you are the essence of true nubian splendor.

Thank you, and may God bless.

Mistress and Master of Ceremonies
Ms. Tameillia Barnes
Mr. Dama Reed

Miss Pearl V. Weaver
First Attendant
Escort: Trevor Brown

Roslyn Harrison was born on January 13, 1973, in Ridgeway, South Carolina. The daughter of Ms. Johnnie Mae Harrison, she is fifth child of a family of seven children.

Roslyn graduated with honors from Fairfield Central High School in Winnsboro, South Carolina in 1991. Among honors accorded her here at Morris College are Attendant to Miss Homecoming, 1992-93; listing as a Presidential Scholar; an honor student and the current position of President of the Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. Roslyn is a member of the Biology Club and the Morris College Ushers.

Roslyn is deeply dedicated to the service ideal. Following her graduation as a biology major, she plans to earn a masters degree in physical therapy from Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia to enable her to better serve the growing needs of humanity.

Her motivation and determination can be summed up in her philosophy: "If you believe in God, all things are possible."

Pearlie Vanessa Weaver, a senior majoring in English, is the 20 year old daughter of Mrs. Jessie Mae Weaver and the Late Mr. Wallace James Weaver of Lynchburg, South Carolina. She has one sister, Selena Victoria Weaver.

Pearlie is a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc., and currently serves as "Ivy Leaf Reporter", First Vice President of the Student Government Association, Vice President of the Morris College Chorale, Assistant Secretary of Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity, President of the Literary Society, and a peer counselor and student leader.

A recipient of the Sarah M. Williams Memorial Scholarship, the Martha Blanding Spence Award, and the James Samuels, Jr. Memorial Scholarship, Pearlle has also been accorded the honor of having been named the best Soprano Soloist in the Oratorio "The Ordering of Moses"; Miss Literary Society; Chaplain of the Freshman Class; President of the Sophomore Class; and Vice President of the Junior Class.

In spite of her involvement in activities beyond the classroom walls, Pearlle's attention to her studies has not been diminished. She is an honor student and is listed in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Her philosophy is "SUCCESS" has three parts: INSPIRATION, DETERMINATION AND PERSPIRATION".

STUDENTS NAMED TO WHO'S WHO

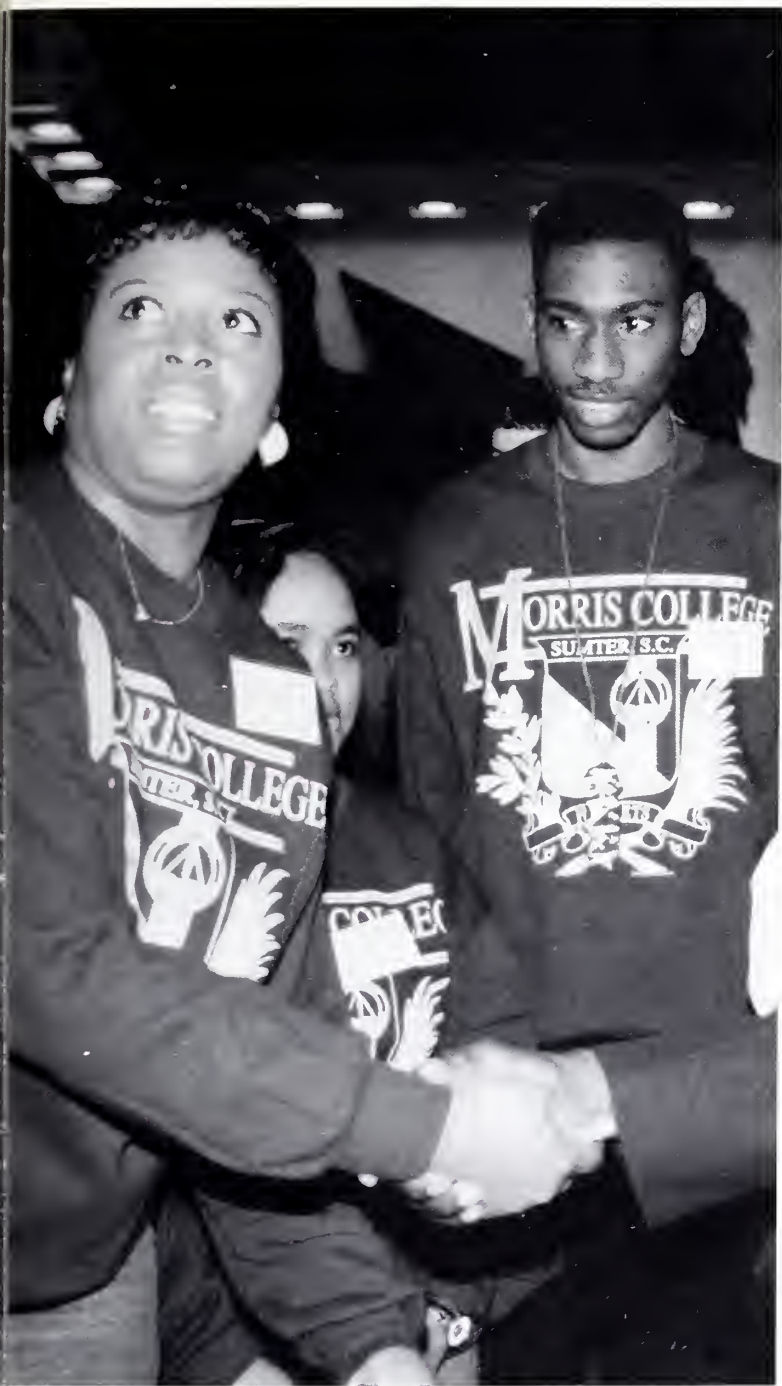

The following Morris College students have been selected as national outstanding leaders and will be included in the 1994 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES.

These students were nominated and selected based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

They join an elite group of students selected from more than 1,400 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several foreign nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934.

STUDENTS ATTEND LAW SCHOOL FORUM

Ten Morris College students attended a law school forum sponsored by the Law School Admission Council held October 8 and 9 in Atlanta.

Students were able to talk with representatives of more than 120 American Bar Association—approved law schools and obtained admission materials, catalogs and financial aid information.

Students were also able to see videotapes about the law school admission process, legal education and careers.

"During the forum, I spoke with many admissions recruiting officers from several law schools, who gave helpful information and assistance concerning the criteria for admission," said Victoria Dixon, a Morris College senior majoring in political science.

"I was also financially informed of the different costs of law school and the different scholarships and loan programs that are available," Dixon said. "Overall, I gathered lots of information from advantage of the opportunities that are being administered to them."

Student Carl Davis agrees that the forum was very helpful.

"The forum was great, Davis said, "I would advise any underclassman who is majoring in political science to go to a forum because it will help in the long run."

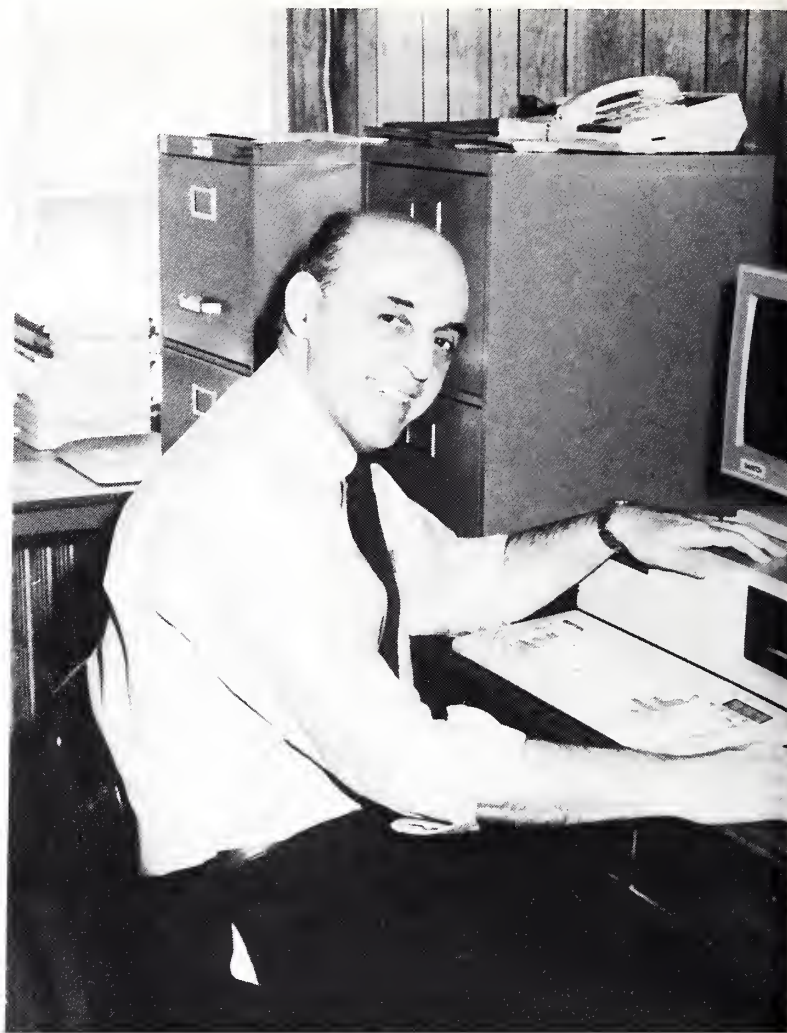

Other Morris students who attended the forum were: Gregory Ross, Dave Armstrong, LaWanda Johnson, Gracie McFadden, Doris Mazone, Henrietta Kennedy, Darlene Isaac and Pamela Jones.

The students were accompanied by Dr. Joyce C. Hicks, an associate professor of political science.

ARMY R.O.T.C.

Army R.O.T.C. is a coeducational program dedicated to producing college-educated men and women to serve as Army Officers in positions requiring a sense of responsibility and varied managerial skills. The program embodies the citizen-soldier concept whereby individuals may serve most of their obligation in reserve status in their home community.

Hey, Carlos. Just a few more steps.

Yolanda, hang on in there.

CDT/2LT Tonya L. Green takes the oath that will enable her to serve her country well.

The Morris College Army ROTC Hornet Company recently commissioned its 32nd and 33rd officers, Second Lieutenants Joseph Dwayne Blanding and Tonya L. Green.

Blanding is a native of Charleston, SC and a son of Mrs. Sandra J. Blanding. He majored in Sociology and received his commission in the Army's Transportation Corps. Blanding is presently in his Officer Basic Course and beginning his Active Tour at Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Green, a native of Manhattan, NY, is a daughter of Carolyn Y. Green and James E. Mathis. She majored in History and received her commission in the Army's Ordnance corps. She will report to Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Aberdeen, Maryland. (Joseph Blanding — Not pictured)

Our Guest Speaker

Lieutenant Colonel Wickie L. Lyons was born on 27 August 1948 in Durham, North Carolina. He graduated from Knox College in Galesburg, Illinois with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Sociology. He was commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the Military Police Corps in 1970 after completing ROTC studies. He earned a Master of Arts degree in Management from Central Michigan University in 1979. His military education includes completion of the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College, the Military Police Officer Advance Course, the Criminal Investigations Special Agent Course, the Military Counterintelligence Special Agent course, the Special Forces Officers Course, the Military Police Officer Basic Course, the Basic Airborne and Jumpmaster courses.

Lieutenant Colonel Lyons has held a wide variety of command and staff positions culminating in his current assignment as Commander, St. Augustine's College ROTC Falcon Battalion and Professor of Military Science. Other key assignments recently held include: Deputy Provost Marshal, 16th Military Police Brigade (Airborne), 18th Airborne Corps at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina.

The Head Table

Counterintelligence Special Agent and Overt Collection Branch Chief, U.S. Army Operational Group, Intelligence and Security Command, Ft. Meade, MD; Provost Marshal, Karsruhe, 29th Area Support Group and Operations Officer, U. S. Forces Police Station, Kaiserlautern, Federal Republic of Germany.

Lieutenant Colonel Lyons is married to the former Cynthia Crummer of Galesburg, Illinois, and has four sons, Craig, 23; Crede, 20, Shawn, 17 and Corey, 13.

CADET CREED

I am an Army Cadet. Soon I will take an oath and become an Army Officer committed to DEFENDING the values which make this NATION great. HONOR is my touchstone. I understand MISSION first and PEOPLE always.

I am the Past: the spirit of those WARRIORS who have made the final sacrifice.

I am the PRESENT: the scholar and apprentice soldier enhancing my skills in the science of warfare and the art of leadership.

But above all, I am the FUTURE: the future WARRIOR leader of the United States Army. May God give me the compassion and judgment of lead and the gallantry in battle to WIN.

I WILL do my duty.

THANKSGIVING RALLY

Hundreds of Baptist ministers, laypersons, convention leaders and officials from throughout the state and nation flocked to Morris' campus on Thursday, November 25th, to show their love and support for the institution during its annual Thanksgiving Service and Rally. They were joined by alumni, students, faculty and staff members.

The service highlighted a day of traditional Thanksgiving Day activities that included a sunrise, service, Homecoming Parade and dinner.

The keynote speaker was the Rev. Dr. James S. Hall — founder and pastor of Triumph Baptist Church in Philadelphia.

Dr. Hall — formerly of Marion, SC — is a 1967 graduate of Morris College and serves on the college's Trustee Board. He spoke on the theme: "Don't Forget the Bones."

Dr. Hall said when figuring out where you're going and deciding on how you are going to get there, don't forget from whence you came.

The Thanksgiving Rally is one of Morris' major fundraising efforts of the year, and is sponsored by the Baptist Educational and Missionary Convention of South Carolina.

The School of Religion at Morris College held its 6th Annual Mini Workshop Wednesday, September 15 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Neal-Jones Auditorium.

The workshop was conducted by Dr. Wyatt Tee Walker, senior minister of Canaan Baptist Church of Christ in New York's Harlem Community.

A campus, community-wide worship service was held in the auditorium at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, September 15. The opening convocation was held Thursday, September 16 at 10:00 a.m. in the auditorium.

Called "Harlem's Renaissance Man" because of his multiple gifts and varied careers, Walker is a national figure as a theologian, human rights activist, urbanologist, and international peace advocate.

Dr. Walker enjoys an enviable record as a pastor/scholar in the national community. He is a double-graduate of Virginia Union University and holds an earned doctorate from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School.

Dr. Walker is also an energetic businessman. He has developed more than 33 million dollars of affordable housing in Central Harlem under the aegis of the Canann Church. Dr. Walker has served as chairman of the board of Freedom

National Bank where he was a director for 10 years and spent a decade as urban affairs specialist to Nelson A. Rockefeller.

This Harlem pastor has been active in the international peace movement and the struggle against apartheid in South Africa and Namibia.

In the early 1960's, Walker was chief of staff to Martin Luther King, Jr. and presently serves as special assistant to the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

OPENING CONVOCATION School of Religion

Reverend Dr. Isaiah Harvey
Dean, School of Religion

More About The School of Religion . . .

The Morris College School of Religion operates on the basic philosophy that the Black Clergy and Laity must be trained to serve the needs of contemporary American society.

In its endeavor to implement the school's purpose and philosophy, programs have been designed to afford students the necessary discipline to prepare them for the ministry. The incoming student is accepted at his/her level with the understanding that he/she will make the necessary effort to work toward proficiency in his/her area of study. Special attention is given to the spoken work.

In an effort to promote and provide a maximum program that will meet the individual needs of all the students, the school offers the following:

1. A degree program geared to those preachers seeking the Bachelor's degree in either Theology or Divinity.
2. A non-degree or certificate program offered through the Extension and Continuing Education Program which affords training to preachers and Christian workers in the local communities.

The curriculum embraces classical subjects as exemplified in the traditional theological rootage as well as contemporary subjects related by the new direction in clinical training.

Drs. Richardson and Roberts stop to have a short conversation before the beginning of the program.

The graduates stand to receive their certificates.

CLOSING CONVOCATION

The School of Religion at Morris College held its closing convocation services on April 27th at 8:00 p.m. in the Neal-Jones Auditorium.

The speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Joseph Lawrence Roberts, Jr., senior pastor of Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta, GA.

Roberts, a graduate of Union Theological Seminary and Princeton Theological Seminary, is chairman of the executive board of the New Era State Baptist Convention.

Roberts is a member of the Morehouse School of Religion Board of Directors, a member of Rhodes College Board of Trustees and a member of the S.C.L.C. Board of Trustees.

Roberts also serves as treasurer of the Concerned Black Clergy of Atlanta, and is a member of the M. L. K. Jr. Center for Non-Violent Social Change Board of Directors.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

Each year, Morris College observes Religious Emphasis Week. This observance gives the college community an opportunity to place special emphasis on worship and religious ideals.

This year's observance was held on Tuesday, February 22nd through Friday, February 25th.

Services were held at 10:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. each day in the Neal-Jones Auditorium.

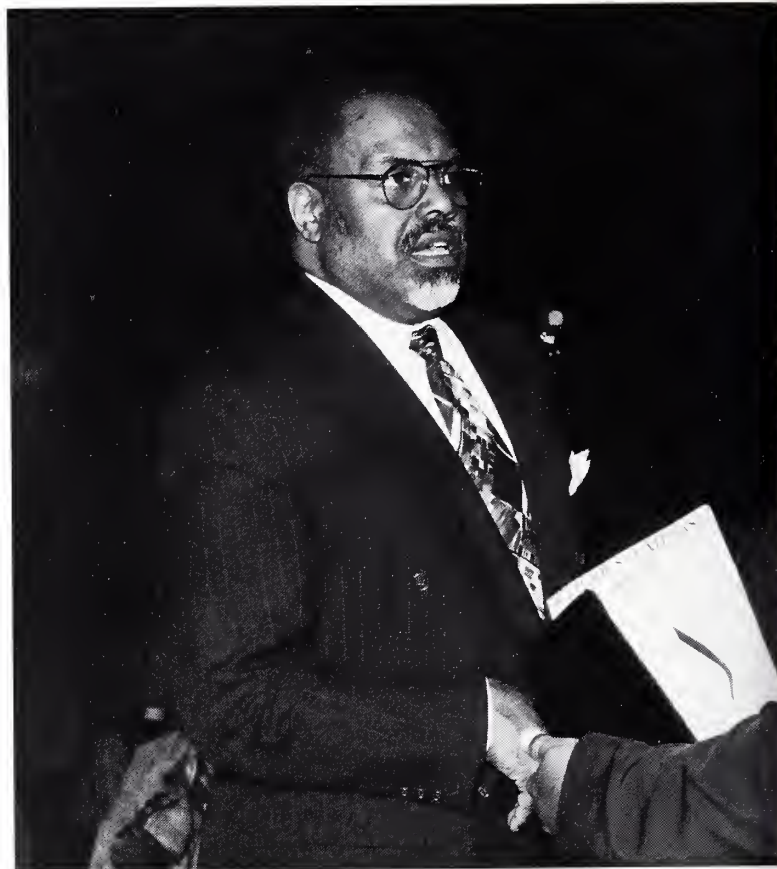

Dr. Charles G. Adams, pastor of Hartford Memorial Baptist Church in Detroit, Michigan, was the keynote speaker.

Dr. Adams is the president of the National Progressive Baptist Convention and a member of Morris' Trustee Board. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan and Harvard University.

A doctoral fellow of Union Theological Seminary in New York, Dr. Adams has been the recipient of nine honorary doctorates from prestigious colleges and universities across the country, including Morris.

Dr. Adams has been enlightening Morris students, faculty and staff members—as well as area ministers and community leaders—for several years with his traditional visit to the college.

MID-WINTER BANQUET AND RALLY

This year's Mid-Winter Banquet/Rally was held 7:30 p.m., Friday, February 25, 1994 in Morris' Garrick-Boykin Human Development Center.

Dr. James Hutten Costen, president of the Interdenominational Theological Center in Atlanta, was the keynote speaker.

Dr. Costen has been president of ITC since 1983.

Under Dr. Costen's leadership, ITC has grown into one of the nation's strongest theological schools, and the largest predominately black seminary in the world. There are currently almost 400 students enrolled at ITC.

The institution's annual budget has more than tripled during Dr. Costen's tenure and its permanent endowment has doubled to more than $7 million.

Dr. Costen's career has been quite varied.

He served as pastor of Mount Pisgah Presbyterian Church in Rocky Mount, NC and as organizing pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Master in Atlanta.

Dr. Costen has held numerous board and committee assignments in the Presbyterian Church (USA). In 1982, he was elected the Moderator of the General Assembly, the denomination's highest elected office.

Additionally, Dr. Costen was the founder and chairman of the board of the Harbison Development Corporation.

Dr. Costen is highly sought as a speaker on college and seminary campuses, in professional associations and in churches of many denominations.

BUSINESS AND CAREERS CONFERENCE

TOP BLACK EXECUTIVES TO TAKE PART IN CAREER SEMINAR

For almost 30 years, successful black executives have converged on Morris College for the school's annual Career Awareness and Planning Seminar.

This year's event was held March 23-25.

The seminar was sponsored by Morris and the National Urban League's Black Executive Exchange Program (BEEP).

According to Margaret Bailey, Morris' director of Career Planning, Cooperative Education and Placement Office, the Career Awareness and Planning Seminar was created to support the efforts of college faculty and placement directors and to better prepare students for the transition from academia to the world of work.

More than 20 successful "BEEPers" from the corporate world participated in this event.

For more than 20 years, the National Urban League's Black Executive Exchange Program has been dedicated to serving the nation's historically and predominately black colleges and universities. This will be the 25th year that BEEPERS have visited Morris.

BEEP has provided positive African-American role models for college students and has also made the expertise and experiences of African-American professionals available as a resource to revitalize college curricula and programs.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN CO-OP CORPS CONFERENCE

The Morris College Office of Career Planning, Cooperative Education and Placement conducted its annual Co-op Corps Conference on Saturday, August 27, 1994 from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. in the Film Lecture Room, Media Center, Richardson Johnson Learning Resources Center.

The theme for this year's conference was "African-Americans Succeeding in Today's Workplace."

Tom Quick, author of "How African-Americans Succeed in Today's Workplace" — a 10-step guide to help persons excel in the workplace and increase earning power — served as workshop consultant.

"The purpose of the conference was to assist students with the necessary skills that they will need in order to successfully enter, compete, and survive in the world of work and in daily living," said Margaret Bailey, Director of Career Planning, Cooperative Education and Placement. "The conference also prepares students for leadership rules and co-op/internship positions that they will hold during the 1994-95 academic year at Morris and with the public and private sectors."

According to Mr. Quick, "Knowledge alone availeth nothing; knowledge acted upon gets results. Act on what you learn and increase your earning power!"

"People have the ability to transform their lives by transforming their state of mind," he said. "You have increased your chances of success tenfold when you've discerned the difference between movement and direction. Movement refers to busywork, more activity. Direction has to do with concentrated activity aimed toward a specific task. Many people in the workplace are good at generating activity — busywork which contributes very little to the bottom line. Your career will skyrocket once you expend your energies on purposeful work and leave the busywork to someone else."

The Co-op Corps is composed of 35 students who have a dedication to high achievement in academic and other related activities leading to career success.

The program was funded by Morris College and the Teagle Foundation of New York.

Morris College's Honors Program presented a well-received, pre-debate panel discussion on Malcolm X at the National Association of African-American Honors Program Convention held October 8-10 in Savannah, GA. Colleges and Universities from throughout the South were represented.

Participating in the discussion were discussion leader Iva Green and panel members Selena Prioleau, Carlena Prioleau, Walter Clark, Aronda Smith and April Nelson. Dr. Jeanne McNett coordinated the panel discussion.

The Morris College Honors Program, RARE (Reinforcers, Achievers and Representatives of Excellence), is directed by Dr. Liz Bell, who also participated at the National Association's Convention of the United Negro College Fund/Mellon Program.

Dr. McNett, a Morris College faculty advisor to RARE, also accompanied the group to Savannah.

Four Morris College honor students participated in the 23rd Annual Graduate and Professional Schools Visitation Days at Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio November 7-9.

The Visitation Days events attempt to increase minority enrollment in graduate and professional programs at Ohio State. Students and faculty members from more than 50 Historically Black Colleges and Universities attended the events.

"The honors students toured the campus, talked with faculty and mingled with minority graduate and professional students," said Margaret Bailey, director of Morris' Career Planning, Cooperative Education and Placement.

Bailey, who accompanied the honor students, said the students also applied for admission and financial aid for next fall.

Morris students who attended the Visitation Days were: Tonya L. Green, a history major from New York NY; Stephanie D. Moore, a political science/history/pre-law major from Albany, GA; Kathleen V.

Peterson, a business administration/computer science major from Waterbury, Conn. and Pearlie V. Weaver, an English major from Lynchburg, SC.

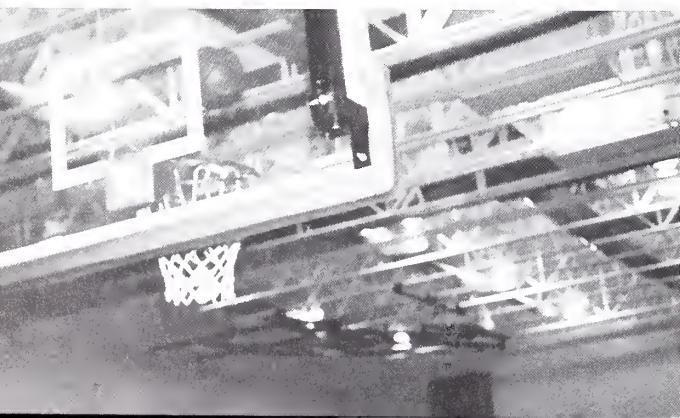

First Union Corporation of Charlotte furnished a chartered bus to transport 40 honor students and eight faculty representatives from Morris, Benedict, South Carolina State, Voorhees, Johnson C. Smith, St. Augustine, Barber-Scotia and Winston Salem State to and from the event.

STRUTTIN' OUR STUFF

ATHLETICS

Oh Heavenly Father and Creator of all things, guide me for I am the humble mortal athlete you created in your likeness.

I ask not for riches or fame, not even more opportunities; instead, I ask for guidance that I better utilize my God-given abilities and opportunities.

Like no other creature on earth, You have blessed my mind and body to perform with great skill, grace and power. You have instilled in my soul a burning desire to excel to limits that only You know.

Dear Lord, without Your guidance my enthusiasm is weak and my spirit is low, and I will fall short of all the potential You've blessed me with.

The field I have chosen is abundant with opportunity; yet, it is full of heartbreak and despair.

Help me focus a clear vision of the pleasure and the triumph that accompany victory and achievement; yet, may I be exposed to the agonies of defeat so that my experience is genuine.

I have already walked with merchant of chaos and stumbled in ignorance.

Guide my words and deeds that they may be fruitful to the minds and souls of many who aspire high achievement but lack inspiration.

Expose me to hate, greed, and fear so they are no strangers to me; yet, fill my heart with love and compassion so that I will turn strangers into friends.

May I soar like the eagle against my opponents for this is my goal.

May my reactions be as quick and forceful as the tiger for many long hours do I practice and train for this.

Lord, bless me with the vision of the hawk so that my mind perceives things when my eyes do not.

Discipline me in the habit of trying, and trying again, in spite of my defeats so that my place in life shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.

Favor me with the intelligence to know that problems and suffering are but a test of my faith, and devotion, and problems/suffering shall come to pass.

When it is my time to face failure, help me confront this imposter with grace and courage so that I never fear failure.

Bless me with the wisdom to learn from the deceit of failure for he is only a small defeat in a lifelong battle, and most of all, he is temporary (It too will Pass).

But all these things be only if it's thy will, Heavenly Father, for I honor Thy will. I am but a humble athlete; yet, Thou hast made me in Thine own image, and different from all other creatures on earth. Verily, there must be a special place for me.

In Jesus Christ's name, guide this athlete, God.

—Stanley Wooten

IT'S OUR TIME TO SHOW OUR

SPIRIT

The 1993-94 Morris College Cheerleaders spent another year performing at games, exciting the crowd, and supporting the players. The squad consists of Bertha Blake, Devenna Brown, Ze'Nata Donaldson, Shaunna Gamble, Shatiqua Hill, Rochel Huggins, LaTonya Johnson, Donna Kelly, LaTasha Parson, and Felisa Sanders.

The Cheerleaders had the privilege to compete in the EIAC Cheerleaders Competition for the first time.

The squad would like to thank Mrs. Audrey G. White for her leadership and the entire Morris College Family for their support.

PRESIDENT HONORED

Dr. Luns C. Richardson was honored Thursday, April 21, by the Sumter Chamber of Commerce for his commitment to education and outstanding service to the community and state. A reception was held in his honor at Central Carolina Technical College.

Dr. Richardson was described as a "unique educator."

"Under any circumstance — whatever he is called on to do in this community — he does so in a quiet and dedicated manner," said Attorney Raymond Schwartz. "He is one of the outstanding Sumterites in our community."

Several dignitaries were on hand, including Sen. Phil Leventis, Sumter City Councilman Miles Hodge, Cliff Goodwin and South Carolina Supreme Court Justice Ernest Finney.

Dr. Richardson said he appreciated all those who have supported him and Morris.

"Any success that Morris College has had is due in large measure to your confidence and support," he said. "Morris College has given to Sumter, and Sumter has given to it. It's been a mutual affair."

Dr. Richardson presents an award to Dean Black for years of excellence service to the College.

COMMENCEMENT . . . 1994

The Rev. Jesse Jackson beat the drum of social and moral consciousness at Morris College's 1994 commencement, calling for an end to violence in the black communities.

The ceremony marked the end of the 1993-94 academic year and another historic moment in the life of Morris College.

The near-capacity audience at the Garrick-Boykin Human development Center included alumni, Board of Trustee members and local luminaries.

The excitement and enthusiasm which permeated this event signaled that commencement 1994 was extraordinary in every way.

Rev. Jackson told about 100 graduates and 2,100 others that actively nurturing children can teach them self-respect and non-violence.

"It is our burden, our challenge, to reclaim our children," said Rev. Jackson, who received an honorary doctorate from Morris in 1977 at a previous commencement appearance. "We must make it our agenda to reclaim them, not dismiss them."

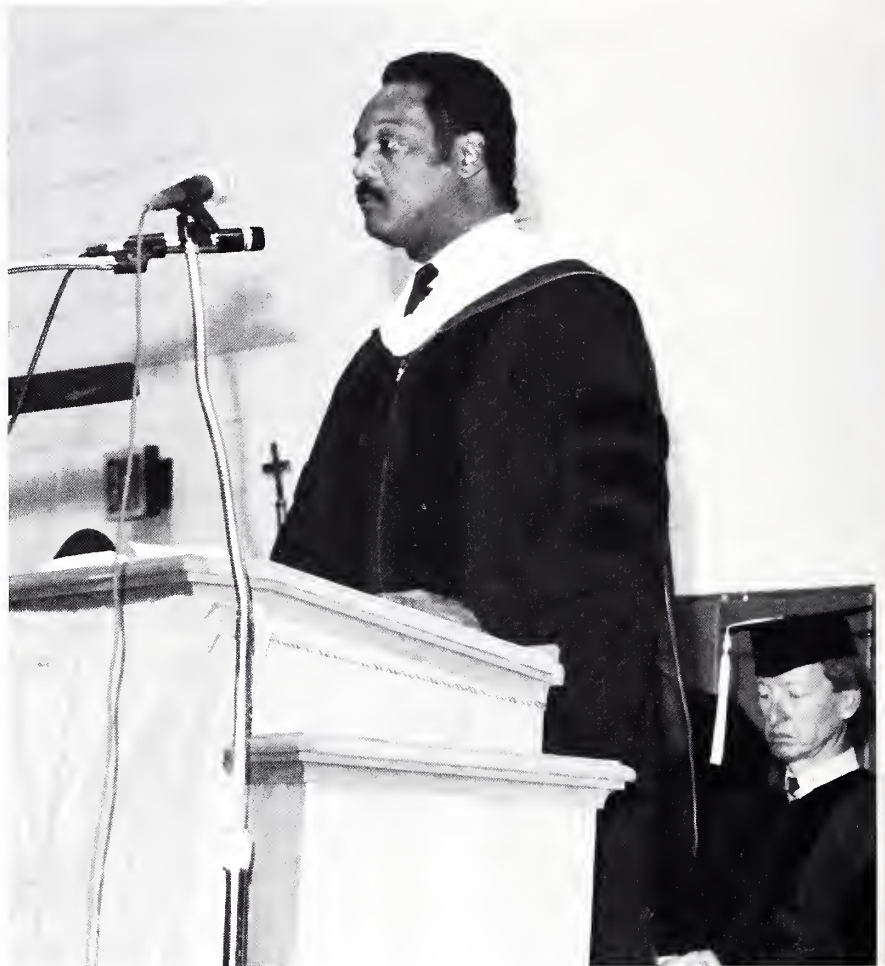

Rev. Jackson, a Greenville, SC, native and founder and president of the Rainbow Coalition, praised the efforts of historically black colleges such as Morris in standing firm against racial prejudices of the past and in educating the children of black America.

"Black colleges have served their mission well," he said. "Now, black colleges are coming under attack as unnecessary. The fact is, if the black colleges were to close, white colleges, by and large, would not accept these students. Where would they go?"

The nation needs black-majority colleges as long as it has black-majority jails, Jackson said, saying that although blacks make up only 12 percent of the population, they make up 52 percent of those in the nation's jails.

After Rev. Jackson's powerful speech, Dr. Luns C. Richardson conferred honorary doctorate degrees to the following distinguished persons who have done great service to their community, state and nation: John D. Marshall, Maggie Butler Morris, Rosa Sumter Riley, Alvin Costello Robinson.

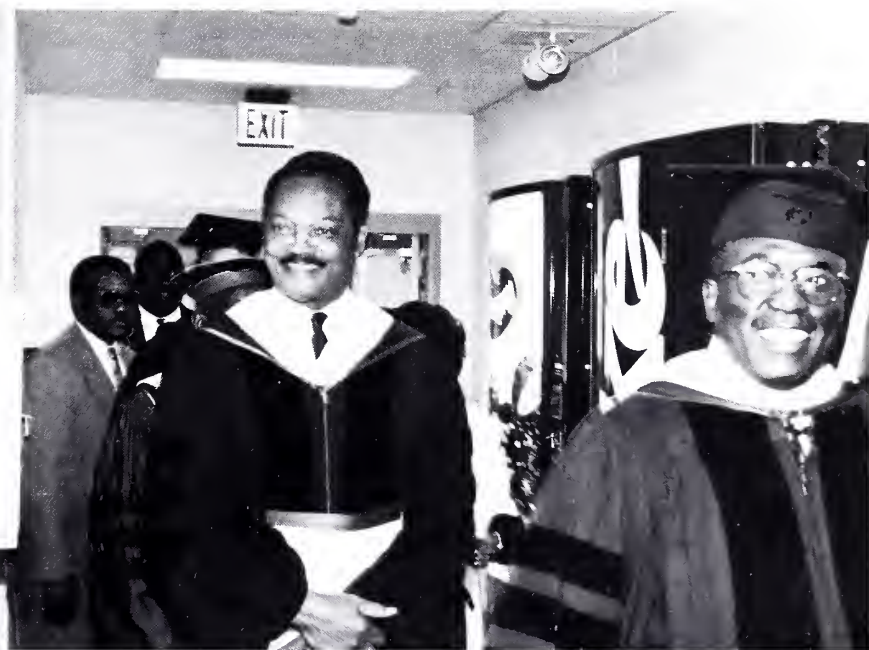

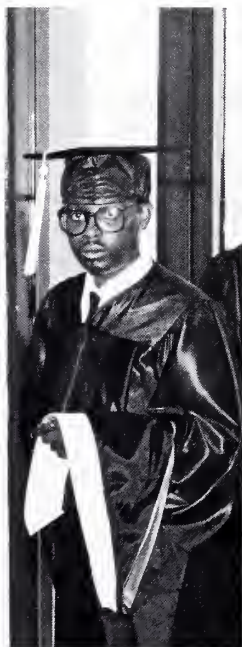

Citations were awarded to the following persons for outstanding service and financial support to Morris College: Albert Slater, G. J. Odom, Ann Wilson, Russell Boyd, General McAllister, Angela Wiley Maine, Miriam Smalls Willis, and Rosella George Toney.

FROM THE EDITOR . . .

We would like to show sincere gratitude to the 1994 Yearbook Staff for an excellent job. We would like to especially thank Dr. Luns C. Richardson, Dean Eliza E. Black, and Delmar Printing Company. We would like to personally thank our advisor, Mrs. Audrey Gibson-White for her services and for putting up with us during this most trying time.

To the 1994 Yearbook Staff: This yearbook was finished due to our hard, dedicated, and cooperative team work. Thank you!

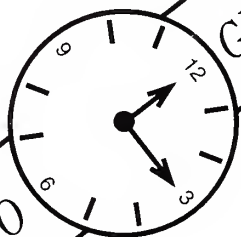

To the Student Body: We sincerely hope that you enjoy this yearbook and keep it always. For the Yearbook Staff, this book will forever be a bond of our togetherness.

Again, thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Gina L. McKnight
